European Association for International Education

EAIE course on internationalisation at home is back by popular demand

Owing to the overwhelming interest in the course 'Internationalisation at home: from theory to practice', the EAIE is offering the course for a second time this year, from Monday 29 May to Wednesday 31 May 2006 in Milano, Italy.

"We had such a high demand for this course and members expressed such great interest that we decided to rerun the course. Internationalisation is 'the' hot topic for higher education institutions around the world. This event is a great opportunity to network and learn in an interactive way", states Yvonne Bos, Conference and Training Manager.

This is a three-day, hands-on course where participants share their views and experiences, work on practical case studies and develop the tools they need to elaborate strategies for facing the challenges of internationalisation in their own institutions.

The EAIE offers a wide range of opportunities to increase one's international and networking skills:
Advising international students, 23 to 25 March in Maastricht, The Netherlands. Only a few places left!
International credential evaluation: China and the Indian subcontinent. Fully Booked
